How to work this list

The full detail is the anchor

It's the package everything is compared against. Maintain services (wash, wax) fill the calendar between full details.

Pet hair is the built-in upsell

$50 flat, 30 minutes — and nearly every interior job has some. Ask before you start; add it as a line.

Maintenance washes on a route

Every 2 weeks on a route = predictable income at a discount that costs you less than acquisition.

Metro pricing

Major metros run 30–60% above the national band — the $389 full detail in LA is the same job as $225 in Tulsa.

Add-ons are lines, not bundles

Screens, pet hair, engine bay — show each as its own line. Silent bundling reads as padding.

US pricing across the map — what the data shows

National bands hide huge regional spreads. These are the published data points for this trade — use them to place your city on the map.

Market / region	What the data shows	Source
National baseline	Full detail $150–300; most shops near $225	BGI Tint; HomeGuide
Major metros (LA example)	The same full detail prices at $389 in Los Angeles vs ~$225 in Tulsa — a +70% metro premium	HomeGuide metro data
Metro premium rule	Major metros run +30–60% over national bands across detailing services	HomeGuide; Jobber

Regional points are as published by the named sources. Where your city isn't listed, the coastal/metro premium pattern is the planning heuristic — then validate locally (next page).

How to judge YOUR local market — the five-step method

1. Start from the national band — pages 1–2 of this kit.
2. Apply the regional adjustment — coastal metros +20–50% across our research; small towns slightly under. Your state's cost-of-living index is a reasonable proxy.
3. Compute your cost floor — (your loaded hours + materials/supplies) for the job. No quote below the floor, ever. It's the line between a business and a hobby.
4. Validate locally — three published local prices (Angi/HomeGuide zip-level or competitor pages) tell you where the market actually clears.
5. Set your band and review quarterly — booked out two weeks straight? Move up. Empty for a month? Your floor is above your market.

Worked example — Full detail (in+out), mid-size SUV, Denver CO

Step 1. National band: $150–300, typical $225.

Step 2. Regional: Denver is a solid mid-cost metro, mild premium (+10–20%) → $250–290.

Step 3. Cost floor: 4 hrs solo × $35 loaded + $12 supplies = $152. $275 yields ~45% margin.

Step 4. Validate: 3 local shops' posted prices; position $10 above the median with a better guarantee.

Same job, three cities, three prices — the metro you stand in is a pricing input, not an excuse.

Strategy — the five plays that move the number

The full detail anchors the menu

It's the package every other price is judged against. Keep it rich and central; maintain services fill the calendar around it.

Add-ons are separate lines

Pet hair $50, engine bay $80, headlights $130 — every add-on is its own line item. Silent bundling reads as padding and hides your best margin.

The route is the second business

Biweekly maintenance washes at a discount are annuity income — the discount costs less than acquiring a new full detail.

Sell the guarantee, not the price

'Come back within 48 hours if it rains' or a 7-day satisfaction re-clean beats a $20 discount and costs almost nothing.
